

VELA Tango 50

VELA Tango 50 has a low backrest that supports your lower back and allows free movement of your back, shoulders and arms during various activities.

VELA Tango 50

VELA Tango 50 is a basic and low-cost work chair. It is developed to enable the user to keep the usual level of activity and independence at home and at the work place – despite disability. A unique central brake ensures that the user has a stable work place. This means, that working in the kitchen with knives or boiling water is safe. Four smoothly running and direction-stable wheels make the chair easy to 'walk'.

VELA Tango 50 is a basic work chair from VELA particularly well suited for people with disabilities. The chair provides safety and stability during everyday activities at home, at the workplace or in rehabilitation.

The central brake and the stable armrests make it easier to get into and out of the chair. The user can lean on the armrest without moving the chair. This is a benefit to users who have problems regarding mobility or balance.

The chair has smoothly running wheels and plenty of room for the feet. This means that the user easily can 'walk' the chair while sitting down and move around without assistance.

Adjustment of the seat height and seat depth plus support from the backrests and armrests ensures the optimum conditions for an good sitting position. The seat height is adjusted with a gas spring, which makes this chair suited for users with a certain level of mobility.

WORK ENVIRONMENT

- :: Height adjustment of the seat improves the work position for assistants, e.g. when the user needs assistance at meals or when getting dressed.
- :: The height adjustment means that the user can be placed high up and easily be placed at the same level as a bed or a chair for easy and safe transfer.
- :: The height-adjustable push handle eases the work if the user has to be moved.
